GRANT CUT BOMBSHELL

Government plans to slash Harlow Council's funding by 25 per cent

SERVICE cuts and job losses look increasingly likely after the Government revealed plans to slash Harlow Council's funding by more than a quarter over the next two years.

The savage cut to the Revenue Support Grant means the council will have to find savings of around £2.5m during the next financial year and £1.9m the following year, raising fears for the future of popular discretionary services such as The Playhouse, Pets' Corner and The Museum of Harlow.

Although the proposals are currently at the consultation stage and will not be ratified until late January, the cash-strapped council is expected to act swiftly to cut costs – potentially putting scores of jobs at risk.

The grant, which is used by the authority to help pay for service provision, will be slashed by 15.7 per cent in 2011/12 and 10.9 per cent in 2012/13, leaving the council more reliant on alternative income streams such as parking charges, rents and council tax.

Taking other grants and sources of income into account, the authority's overall spending power will be reduced by around 9.75 per cent next year – making Harlow one of the biggest casualties of the spending shake-up in Essex.

Council leader Andrew Johnson warned of tough times ahead as the authority looks at ways to balance the books.

"We are looking at cuts of 25 per cent in our Revenue

Hands up if you're having fun

IT was more a case of 'ho, ho, ho' than 'go, go, go' when 220 runners dressed as Father Christmas started the second St Clare Hospice Santa Fun Run in Harlow Town Park on Sunday.

The event, which was supported by the Star, is expected to have raised several thousands of pounds for the hospice at Hastingwood.

All the runners – some with two legs, others with four and some in pushchairs – completed the 4km course in under an hour.

"Once again it was such a fantastic sight seeing over 200 Santas gathering in one place," said organiser Tracy Stratford.

Brave Rae gets a new wheelchair

By DAN PHILLIPS

daniel.phillips@hertssexnews.co.uk

FUNDRAISERS have succeeded in their aim to buy a £21,000 custom-built wheelchair for a Harlow girl suffering from a life-limiting condition.

Three-year-old Rae White suffers from Spinal Muscular Atrophy Type 2, a degenerative condition which has left her paralysed from the waist down.

The new electric-powered wheelchair delivered to her family home in Broadfields will enable her to move around independently and even play with her friends.

This week Rae's mum Tanya told the Star the wheelchair was like "a new pair of legs" for the toddler.

"It is going to make her much more independent," she said. "Once she has learnt how to use it she will be able to move around on her own."

"It enables her to move right down to the floor so she will be able to play with her friends."

Businesses and individuals have been raising cash to buy the motorised wheelchair for more than a year.

The first fundraising event was a half marathon run by Mick Cleary in September 2009.

This was followed by a race night organised by Barclay's Bank in Old Harlow and a cycle ride from London to Paris by Calvin Keighley.

In June, a team from Harlow fire station pulled a fire truck around the town while husband and wife James and Jo Taylor walked across Scotland and climbed Ben Nevis.

A charity ball organised by Old Harlow residents Anne Godfrey, Michele Millar and Caroline Oakley at the Green Man Hotel in Old Harlow raised an astonishing £8,800. They decided to raise money after reading about Rae's plight in the Star.

The £21,000 target was finally hit following a fun day at the Horn & Horseshoes pub in Foster Street.

It meant Tanya could finally place the order for the powered seat made by UK wheelchair specialists Permobil.

"It's absolutely amazing that people have given up their time to raise money for Rae," she said. "None of the events happened overnight; they took months of planning."

"It's overwhelming what they've done and wonderful to know that there are good people out there."

Tanya is now planning further fundraising for alterations to her home to add a downstairs bedroom and bathroom for Rae.

Animals share nativity stage

HUNDREDS of people enjoyed a traditional nativity play staged at Pets' Corner in Harlow Town Park on Sunday. The afternoon performances were co-ordinated by the Phoenix Theatre School and featured donkeys, sheep and the alpacas from the children's zoo.

Afterwards, hot refreshments were laid on and children had the opportunity to meet Santa who popped in to see his reindeer.

The event was free but visitors were invited to make a donation towards the cost of the event.

Joel Charles, chairman of Harlow Council's community and citizenship policy working group, said:

"The Pets' Corner nativity play is part of our traditional Christmas celebrations.

"It was a perfect way for families to begin their countdown to Christmas."

Police appeal after theft of teen's phone

POLICE have issued an appeal for witnesses after a 17-year-old girl was grabbed by the neck and had her mobile phone stolen by two youths in Harlow.

The victim got off a bus and was walking along the cycle track near Tithelands when she was approached from behind by the pair.

One of them held her by the neck and covered her mouth while the second stole the mobile phone, a pink USB memory stick and keys from her pocket.

The attack occurred at 5.45pm on Monday, November 22 but details of the incident were only released by police this week.

Investigating officer DC Louise Sheridan-Brown said: "The victim was unhurt but badly shaken by this nasty robbery and I appeal to anyone who may have been in the area at the time to contact me."

Anyone with information should contact DC Sheridan-Brown on 0300 333 4444 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Help and support for grandparents

By DAN PHILLIPS

daniel.phillips@hertssexnews.co.uk

A NATIONAL charity which has been supporting grandparents who have been separated from their grandchildren from its headquarters in Harlow for more than 20 years has expanded its services.

Founded in 1987, the Grandparents' Association now receives around 8,000 calls and its website gets more than a million hits every year.

The charity is a point of contact for grandparents who have problems with their grandchildren. It aims to improve the lives of children by working with grandparents who have lost, or are in danger of losing, contact with them because of family feud or bereavement.

They also work with grandparents who are caring for their grandchildren on a full time basis, who have childcare responsibilities or are interested in the educational and welfare needs of their grandchildren.

It has been estimated that grandparents across the country provide care which would otherwise cost £3.5bn. In around 200,000 households care from grandparents stops a child from going into care.

But this can take its toll on grandparents who either have to give up work or sacrifice the retirement they had been looking forward to.

In all these circumstances the association can offer advice and support.

It held its first surgery at its offices in Moot House earlier this month and more are planned for the New Year. It is hoped that it will run fortnightly.

Grant Reyland, an advisor for the association, said: "We've set up the surgery so that grandparents can book an appointment to get face-to-face advice and support.

"Grandparents who are looking after their grandchildren can find out what they are entitled to in terms of welfare benefits."

To contact the association, call the advice line on 0845 424 9585 or visit the website at www.grandparents-association.org.uk.

Home Start recruits more volunteers to work with families struggling to cope

A CHARITY supporting parents who are struggling to cope with young children in Harlow has recruited 12 new volunteers.

It means that Home Start Harlow, which is based in the Latton Bush Centre in Southern Way, now has 37 trained volunteers on its books.

The latest recruits completed the national charity's training course run through September, October and November. They will now be giving up their own time to befriend and support families across the town.

Home Start volunteers visit families with children under the age of five to offer help, friendship, advice or support for many reasons including post-natal illness, disability, bereavement, the illness of a parent or child, or social isolation.

A spokeswoman from the Harlow branch said: "This is fantastic news and means that even more Harlow families can benefit from our help and support."

The next training course for people wanting to become a volunteer starts in April 2011. For more information call (01279) 451669.

Lions collecting for Christmas hampers

GETTING into the spirit of the season are members of Harlow Lions Club who will be outside the Tesco store at Church Langley on Saturday collecting donations to provide Christmas hampers for local old folk.

The group has already raised hundreds of pounds by helping to pack customers' shopping at the Marks & Spencer's store in Broad Walk. The money will be shared with the 2nd Great Parndon Scouts Group and Quest Cancer Research.

They have also held a collection outside the Tesco supermarket in Edinburgh Way for the Christmas hampers.

A club spokesman said: "A very generous donation has been received from the proprietor of the Sausage Company in Harlow towards the purchase of the hampers.

"We are extremely grateful to the people of Harlow and surrounding areas for their generosity at this time of the year. We would also like to thank the manager and staff of Marks & Spencer and Tesco for giving us the opportunity to raise the necessary funds to carry out their service to the local community."

Restaurant makes wishes come true

A RESTAURANT in North Weald has helped to raise £50,000 for a charity that makes dreams come true for young people with life-threatening illnesses.

Throughout this year the Talbot Harvester, in High Road, has been encouraging customers to donate £2 to the Make-A-Wish Foundation. Those who did so were entered into a draw to win prizes including a family holiday to Disneyland Paris.

Restaurant manager Grant Hulme said: "We feel proud to have played our part in raising such a huge amount for Make-A-Wish because it is such a fantastic cause, making a real difference to children and young people across the country."

Karen England, director of fundraising for the Make-A-Wish Foundation, said: "We were delighted to be working with the Talbot Harvester for the fifth year running, increasing awareness of our work as well as raising much needed funds that will add magic to the lives of special children.

"Make-A-Wish is a great charity to support and you can see directly the real difference a donation brings to a child's life."

Disco to raise funds for hospital appeal

A FAMILY disco will be held at the Great Parndon Community Association on Saturday to raise cash for Princess Alexandra Hospital's intensive care ventilator appeal. As well as music for all ages there will also be a visit from Mother Christmas and her helpers.

The hospital needs to raise £47,500 to buy a high frequency oscillator ventilator for the ICU. This would allow the unit to avoid the cost of hiring the equipment.

The disco is organised by Lynne Wrenne whose husband recently required use of the ventilator.

The GPCA has provided use of the hall for free and all proceeds will go towards the appeal. Tickets are available on the door priced at £5 (children free).

Halfon calls for tax discount for 'hobby bobbies'

SPECIAL constables should receive discounts on their council tax, according to Harlow MP Robert Halfon.

Mr Halfon has tabled a change to the Police Reform and Social Responsibility Bill to allow councils to give discounts to unpaid officers.

On Monday Mr Halfon told the House of Commons: "I have long believed that we must do more to support special constables and make them into a reserve force, like the Territorial Army or reserve firemen.

"There is huge untapped potential for recruiting more specials, who are in many ways like neighbourhood watch – a genuinely local force and a vital source of community intelligence."

Mr Halfon believes that a council tax discount, or a rebate which has already been trialled in Southampton, would be an incentive for new recruits.

He has met with Home Secretary Theresa May and Essex Chief Constable Jim Barker-McCardle to discuss the matter.

X-Factor reject at Harlow nightclub

ODDBALL X Factor contestant Wagner Carrilho has made a guest appearance at a Harlow nightclub.

The 54-year-old Brazilian singer was at The Seen, in The Rows, just hours after appearing on the ITV show's final on Sunday night.

One national newspaper reported Wagner left the club with an 18-year-old girl. The pair went back to the Travelodge in Edinburgh Gate, but not before stopping off at McDonald's in Edinburgh Way.

Students protest at decision to cut maintenance allowance payments

HARLOW College students joined protests across the country at Government plans to axe the Educational Maintenance Allowance.

The college's student union hosted a special event on Friday to collect signatures from staff and students on a petition against the cutback.

More than 50 per cent of full-time students studying at the Velizy Avenue campus currently receive the means-tested EMA allowance, which can be worth up to £30 per week to the most deprived.

But the Government now plans to close the scheme to new applicants in England from January, with students currently in receipt of EMA continuing to receive the allowance until July 2011 or the end of their course, whichever comes sooner.

Student governor Nathalie Boake (18), who helped organise the protest, described the cut as shortsighted.

"It's like a double slap," she said. "With this and the university tuition fees increase, the obstacles to create a future for yourself are immense.

"This ridiculous cut is so shortsighted. It may save money in the short term but what about the future? What about our futures?"

Harlow College principal Colin Hindmarch said the EMA was the only way many hard-up students could afford to enter further education.

"We have some students living independently and this money is used to buy food, keep warm and pay rent," he said.

"Students use this money to support their learning. Text books, stationery and transport costs don't get any cheaper and this allowance has made further study possible for many."

Justice minister saves court from threat of closure

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW Magistrates' Court has escaped the axe following a high-profile campaign to save it from closure.

It was one of 157 magistrates and county courts earmarked for closure as part of a £41.5m cost-cutting drive by the Ministry of Justice.

Justice Minister Jonathan Djanogly announced on Tuesday it had been taken off the hit-list. But the future for Harlow County Court was bleaker after it was confirmed the West Gate courthouse would shut in April next year.

As the Star reported back in August, legal professionals from firms across the town joined forces to oppose the planned closures, winning support from residents, Harlow Council and MP Robert Halfon.

They argued that scrapping both courthouses and transferring hearings to Chelmsford and Cambridge would force people to make expensive travel arrangements and deter others from taking legal action.

Mr Halfon took the campaign to Westminster,

FLASHBACK: Star, August 5

ster, meeting with Home Secretary Theresa May and later pressing Mr Djanogly in person to save both courts.

"At least in terms of the magistrates' court justice has been done in Harlow," he said this week. "There was such a weight of evidence against closing the court and I am delighted that common sense has prevailed and the decision has been taken to keep it open.

"However, the loss of the county court will not be easy for residents and it will be particularly difficult for hard-working staff who have given many, many years of commitment to helping local people.

He added: "I've been told by Mr Djanogly that it is hoped the retention of the magistrates' court will enable at least some of the county court business to be carried out there."

Stephanie Holmes, a family lawyer at Attwaters Solicitors in West Gate, described Tuesday's announcement as a "double-edged sword".

"Obviously we are very pleased that the government has decided to spare Harlow Magistrates' Court from closure, but shutting the county court will still have a huge impact on the town," she said.

"We had a great response from residents to our campaign to save both courthouses. If it hadn't been for their tremendous support our case wouldn't have been so strong."

The magistrates' court will now have to deal with cases transferred from courthouses closed during the shake-up – including Epping – and is likely to benefit from part of a new £22m investment package to improve and modernise its services as a result.

Mr Halfon added: "One of the courts at Harlow and the custody suite underwent a substantial facelift some years ago and I am delighted that the court might now benefit from a further injection of cash."

Christmas starts here!

What a Santastic bunch

A WAVE of red and white swept across Harlow Town Park on Sunday as scores of Santas set about raising sackloads of cash for St Clare Hospice.

More than 200 took part in the hospice's second Santa Fun Run, following a 4km route which started and finished at the Showground. The two-legged competitors were joined by a large number of dogs, many of them decked in tinsel or dressed as reindeer.

First to finish the course was 17-year-old William Wood from Ongar, who crossed the finish line first in under 14 minutes. All 220 entrants completed the run, whether by sprinting, jogging, walking or being pushed in their buggies. The final runner made it home in under 53 minutes.

event came when members of Harlow Running Club presented the hospice with a cheque for £500 from the proceeds of their summer 10-mile run.

A similar Santa Fun Run took place in the grounds of Bishop's Stortford College at exactly the same time as the Harlow event and that attracted 130 Santas. Together the runs have so far raised over £6,000 from registration fees and this figure is expected to rise when sponsorship money is sent in.

Event organiser Tracy Stratford said afterwards: "Once again it was such a fantastic sight seeing over 200 Santas gathering in one place!

"Despite the snow and bad weather we have had recently the sun was shining for us and it was wonderful seeing so many families getting festive together and taking part.

"I would like to thank the Star and Heart FM for supporting the event, Harlow Council for the use of the Town Park, Harlow Running Club for helping setting up the course and marshalling the event, Ros from Rosemary Conley Diet and Fitness for leading the warm-up, Alistage for loaning us the stage and Morrisons for donating the mince pies!"

Next year Passmores School is set to move to a new building currently under construction on the site of the former Brays Grove School bordering Southern Way and Trayces Road. With much of the structure now in place, Star reporter DAN PHILLIPS joined head teacher Vic Goddard and a group of pupils to see how work is progressing.

NEARLY half of all the walls and ceilings at Harlow's new multi-million pound superschool will be glass.

It will revolutionise the way Passmores operates and it is clearly a subject that excites head teacher Vic Goddard.

"Some 44 per cent of the building is window and that's a lot of glass," he told pupils from the school's council. "The most important aspect of this is that the building will be really open."

"It means that at lunch and break times one member of staff is going to be able to see everything in the main area."

"Students will know that there will be nowhere for anybody to hide and there will always be someone to look after you. That is important for our pupils' safety."

The use of so much glass will also help the school to save energy as extensive use of skylights allows as much use of natural light as possible.

When viewed from above, the building has five wings spreading out in a star shape. Each wing is home to a different department: maths and ITC, sciences, performance, English and humanities and physical education.

Where they join in the centre is an elliptical assembly hall which, like the school's exterior, will be clad in wood.

Food will be eaten in the central area with pupils sitting at Japanese-style long benches.

Sustainability is a common theme throughout the design of the building. Much of the roof is insulated with brown mulch sourced from the Brays Grove site.

The brown soil will gradually turn green as airborne seeds land and germinate. Eventually solar panels will supply the school with electricity.

"Hopefully it will be cheaper to run in the long term, even though it's a bigger school," said Mr Goddard.

An all-weather Tiger Turf pitch will offer FIFA-standard football facilities while the new indoor sports hall will be 25 per cent bigger than the school's current one.

Mr Goddard hopes that the hire-able high-quality facilities will provide another source of revenue, money that will be all the more important as school budgets are squeezed in the coming years.

And as well as being bigger and more efficient, the building is more inclusive. Two lifts will provide access to all while each department will have one room set up for use by disabled pupils.

If it seems like the school has been designed with the pupils in mind, then that is because the pupils have been involved in the design process from the start.

Groups of students were asked what they wanted to see in the new building and many of those features, such as energy-saving Dyson hand-dryers in the toilets, have been included.

Mr Goddard said the project had been difficult but rewarding.

"I'm a teacher at the end of the day and this is not in my comfort zone," he said. "But creating something from scratch like this is a fantastic privilege."

"I'm lucky in that I have a great leadership team that have been able to run the school while I've been making decisions on types of flooring!"

Despite the recent snow slowing down work, the building is expected to be completed in July next year ready for fitting out during the summer.

It should be ready for its first intake of pupils in September.

Rundown market to get £150k makeover

By DAN PHILLIPS

daniel.phillips@hertsexnews.co.uk

PLANS for a major revamp of the run-down market square in Harlow town centre have been given the go-ahead.

Work on improving the dilapidated area around Stone Cross – including the provision of modern stalls, a performance area and landscaping works – is expected to begin in February.

Harlow Council's executive committee have agreed the plans as an interim measure while the authority attempts to find another developer for its major Town Centre North redevelopment project.

The current plans will see the market's existing stalls removed and the square resurfaced. New benches and areas of artificial turf for families to use will also be installed.

Provision will be made for a new children's play area and larger trees in planters will be installed to make the area feel less windswept.

There is also a possibility that a large white wall or glass area could be located in The Rows to project films or live television events.

The £150,000 cost of the renovation will be met by regeneration grants, meaning council taxpayers will not have to foot the bill.

Construction work is expected to take about a month and market traders have been offered space in West Square or market, and potentially the stalls in Broad Walk, to the Harlow Town Centre Partnership. The move would bring private sector expertise to the running of the market.

Russell Perrin, chairman of the council's regeneration and enterprise working group, said: "These plans recognise that it will take some time before the Town Centre North redevelopment is delivered and we need to improve Stone Cross in the mean time.

"We will replace the ageing metal stands with new stalls and make this an open plan area that people will want to spend time in and enjoy.

"A market has always been a key feature of Harlow, but there's a general recognition that the market has struggled in recent times.

"Harlow Town Centre Partnership would bring a fresh set of eyes to running the market, and could give it just the boost it needs."

Michael Hemmings, former chairman of the now disbanded Market Traders' Association said: "It's a fantastic idea and long overdue. I'm 100 per cent behind a revamp of the area.

"My only reservation is what they do with us while the work is completed. West Gate and the car park just don't have the footfall. We'd be better placed in Broad Walk."

Locked up: thugs who left teenager with broken jaw

TWO teenage thugs have been locked up for 10 months after breaking a boy's jaw in an unprovoked attack in Harlow.

Daniel Ryan (19), of Long Ley, Harlow, and Dean McFarlane (19), of Waterhouse Moor, Harlow, admitted causing grievous bodily harm to the victim in Tripton Road in November last year.

Branding the pair "bullies" as she sent them to a young offenders' institution, Judge Sara Staite told them: "You behaved like thugs. Both of you appeared to take some pleasure from the attack."

Chelmsford Crown Court heard that metal plates had to be surgically fitted inside the 17-year-old victim's mouth following the attack, which left him with a broken jaw and facial bruising.

Robin Du Preez, prosecuting, said the teenager was walking home alone in the early hours of the morning when he saw Ryan with another man.

"McFarlane came over – he used to go to school with the victim – and said 'shake my hand' but had his fist in a ball," said Mr Du Preez. "The victim was frightened and walked backwards to get away.

"Ryan suddenly appeared in front of him and McFarlane went behind. He felt a blow to his right cheek near his eye which knocked him down. As he tried to get up, Ryan said: 'Why are you getting up?'"

The court heard Ryan then repeatedly punched the victim in the face while McFarlane held him up by his jacket.

Ryan also admitted carrying out another attack on a 15-year-old youth near Asda earlier the same evening for which he received a further one month sentence to run concurrently.

Farah Ahmed, representing Ryan, said in mitigation: "No words can explain his behaviour; it was a vicious attack for no reason whatsoever. He was totally intoxicated but it was totally out of character."

Jamie Sawyer, for McFarlane, said his client was also of previous good character with a strong work ethic. "He very much wants to see light at the end of the tunnel," he said.

Deputy head is leaving after 18 years at school

CHILDREN and staff at Peterswood Infants School and Nursery said farewell to popular deputy headteacher Julie O'Neill yesterday (Wednesday).

Ms O'Neill is leaving the school in Paringdon Road, Harlow, to take over as headteacher of a primary school in Suffolk.

She has spent her whole career teaching in Harlow, joining Peterswood in 1992 and taking over as deputy head six years later.

She is an accomplished piano player and is known for her contribution to Christmas concerts, both in performing and teaching the children to play.

A school spokeswoman said:

"She is loved by children and staff alike and will be really, really missed.

"Her heart is always with the children and she believes in every single one of them."

Peterswood is due to close at the end of term when the school will merge with Paringdon Junior to become Longwood Primary.

PAH praised for steps to cut carbon footprint

EFFORTS to reduce Princess Alexandra Hospital's carbon footprint have been rewarded by environmental watchdog The Carbon Trust.

The PAH NHS Trust has been awarded the Carbon Trust Standard in recognition of its commitment to measuring, managing and reducing its carbon footprint.

The most recent energy-saving project undertaken at the hospital saw the installation of two voltage optimisers in a bid to micro-manage and improve the power supply.

PAH energy manager Bill Dickson said: "We are one of only 16 trusts in the country to have received the Carbon Trust Standard so this is a big deal for us.

"The estates department we have here at the hospital is extremely committed to reducing the amount of carbon we produce and it's down to their hard work and determination that we have achieved this status."

'Winterval' celebrations set the gold standard for PC blandness

SIR, We have now reached that time of year when Christmas lights are switched on across the country. But some councils choose to keep the Christmas basis of December 25 shrouded in darkness.

While other cultural festivals are celebrated with local authority support throughout the year, an eerie silence descends on some town halls at the approach of Christmas.

As a council leader, I think the public are now heartily weary of local authorities who believe they are striking a blow for diversity by watering down Christmas. Council taxpayers do not want to see their money going to subsidise anodyne "winterval" style events which set the gold standard for politically correct blandness.

In Harlow we are supporting a traditional nativity play in the town, arranging for local schools to sing carols in the town centre and providing the Civic Centre for a special carol service. I don't believe this constitutes a sleight to residents from different backgrounds.

It is patronising to suppose that minority faiths will be offended by the celebration of a festival which lies at the heart of this country's national identity. Those of different traditions have no problem with that; it is craven local authorities that appear not to grasp it.

Councils exist to provide value-for-money services and give a lead to regeneration in these economically challenging times.

Celebrating the Christian basis of Christmas is something I believe our residents want us to do. The undermining of a celebration enjoyed by most of the country on the grounds it might give offence is a piece of town hall idiocy they can do without.

Merry Christmas!

Normal service now resumed

SIR, On reading your front page story regarding the death of a puppy at the Old Harlow Boarding Kennels ("Kennels' fine for puppy death not enough", December 9), I felt very sorry for Jed's owner.

As a dog lover, I know how the owner must have felt – so much pain and so much anger.

Although I have no connections with the kennels, I have used it for well over 20 years and have never had troubles of any kind. The former manager was very good, and possessed a fountain of knowledge and care.

Last year he retired and went to live abroad, and a new manager was hired. I took my dog to the kennels twice during the time this new manager was employed and both times he seemed to be very ill. I also understand that poor Jed died during this period.

But now that a new management team have been taken on I have put my dog in the kennels again, and I can only say that everything seems to be back to normal. The former manager is now back and keeping his very experienced eye on things.

I have booked my Labrador in for Christmas and feel happy in doing so. I don't know why but dogs seem to love the place.

MPs off-topic in their replies

SIR, Harlow MP Robert Halfon should ask himself if he and his Conservative colleagues have provided people with any alternative to last week's violence in Westminster for if my experience is anything to go by, then I must conclude that they are not interested in engaging voters in rational debate about their policies. I have written twice to Mr Halfon and once to Iain Duncan Smith (Secretary of State for Work and Pensions) regarding the proposed 10 per cent cut in Housing Benefit for the long-term unemployed. Unlike other changes to Housing Benefit, this measure will apply to both private and council tenants.

The three replies that I have received talk in general terms about changes to Housing Benefit but nowhere address the sole topic of my letters, the proposed 10 per cent cut in Housing Benefit for the long-term unemployed.

For Mr Halfon to take two weeks to send a reply that ignores the topic of the letter to which it purports to be a reply is contemptuous. Mr Iain Duncan Smith's department took nearly three weeks to send a standard reply from an anonymous minion that also ignored the topic of my letter.

If pupils and students concerned about the the abolition of the Education Maintenance Allowance and the tripling of university fees have had similar experiences then it is no wonder they are so furious.

Messrs Halfon and Duncan Smith have shown that in practice they do not actually subscribe to the process of peaceful dialogue between the electorate and the government that they would pose as the alternative to engaging in disorder on the streets of the capital.

If Mr Halfon wishes to retain his marginal seat then he might consider treating his correspondents with respect.

Mementoes of school days at the old college

By DAN PHILLIPS

daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

WHILE we're used to receiving old photographs at the Nostalgia desk, it's not often we receive more tangible items of memorabilia.

But all that changed this week when local historian Ron Bill dropped in some items relating to the old Harlow College – the school that once stood on the site of the Jocelyns housing estate in Old Harlow.

They are two old school ties, two embroidered stitch-on badges – one showing the Harlow College coat of arms and the other the county coat of arms – and a small pin-on college badge.

The items were given to Mr Bill following the death of fellow local historian and lay preacher Alan Peacock in June this year.

Mr Peacock, a lifetime resident of Great Parndon, was himself a Harlovian – an old boy of Harlow College – and one of the ties has his name tag stitched on.

Perhaps the most interesting items, though, are five copies of the college magazine – The Harlovian – dating back to the Second World War. Each copy provides a fascinating insight into the war years and how the conflict had an impact on the life of the school.

The saddest aspect is the Roll of Honour in each copy listing the names of those who had fallen in action. G.L. Davies, an apprentice in the Merchant Navy, Captain J.H. Horsey from Imperial Airways, attached RAF, and signalman D.R. Malbert of the Royal Corps of Signals were among the war dead listed in the winter 1940-41 magazine.

The news and extracts from letters from the Old Harlovians section includes some interesting snippets.

One letter from Northcote H. Caesar, writing from British Columbia, states: "I heard over the radio that a bomb had fallen near the Tectum or gymnasium and that you were housing refugees there. As Harlow College is my old school, I thought I would really like to hear something about it."

The magazine's editor replied: "What really happened was that a dud English shell fell not far from the gymnasium and gave us a bad fright. Harlow has been singularly lucky during the war."

But perhaps it is some of the smaller things which reveal as much about what life was like at the school during the war years.

"Pre-war customers of the tuck shop would be horrified at the bare shelves and counters now to be seen," states one report. "The chocolate 'ration' is one of the hardships that the young have to bear."

Council braced for savage cuts in Government grant

Support Grant over the next two years, 15 per cent in 2011/12 and 10 per cent in 2012/13," he said.

"Clearly that is tough and at the higher end of the scale in terms of the cuts councils are facing, but it is not unique and Harlow has not been singled out.

"We obviously face some very challenging times ahead and there will be some tough choices on services and council jobs. "Residents should be assured that we will keep doing what we have always done and that is to ensure that frontline services are protected as far as possible."

He added that the recently announced Localism Bill, a key component of the Government's much-vaunted Big Society ideology, would go some way to mitigating the effects of the grant cut by enabling communities to take over the running of certain services.

"We have backed the creation of co-operatives like the Harlow Credit Union and we plan to roll out more neighbourhood forums and encourage the further transfer of assets to the community sector," he said.

"With financial support from the Government we would like to go on to more ambitious schemes. For example we are looking positively at initiatives like backing public sector employees who want to take over services by forming social enterprises."

Harlow MP Rob Halfon described the settlement as "deeply disappointing" and pledged to support the council's efforts to minimise service cuts.

"The economy is in ruins and we now spend £120m a day on debt interest," he told the Star. "This is the sad legacy of the last Labour government.

"At the same time, the proposed cuts to Harlow Council are deeply disappointing but I know that the council will campaign vigorously to protect public services and as many local jobs as possible before a final decision is taken."

But Labour group leader Mark Wilkinson predicted the cuts would have a "devastating" impact and hit the most vulnerable hardest.

"I knew it was going to be bad but not this bad," he said. "This will be an absolutely devastating blow to residents in this town and could signal the end for many valued services and jobs.

"The council needs to look at sharing services with other authorities and will have to consider cutting the extravagant salaries of some of its senior management team.

"But judging by the administration's track record with cuts to the Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice Service, I fear it will be the most vulnerable who are hit the hardest."

Liberal Democrat leader Chris Millington said he was extremely disappointed with the proposed grant settlement. "We will be doing everything in our power to protect valued and important local services from being cut, but some things will inevitably have to go," he said.

"We will be pushing the council to try and squeeze as much money as they can from the Government and to explore opportunities to form service-sharing partnerships with other authorities."

ANDREW JOHNSON

Man denies trying to kill his ex-partner

A JURY has been told how a 60-year-old man prepared to kill his former partner by laying out plastic sheeting, metal poles, a hammer, a saw and rubber gloves in his secluded garden.

It is alleged that estate agent Leo McKnight lured Marcia McKnight (31) to the home they had once shared with their four children before hitting her over the head with a metal bar.

Their 10-year relationship had broken down over the previous year because he refused to marry the staunch Roman Catholic.

Chelmsford Crown Court heard Ms McKnight was embarrassed about not being able to take Holy Communion as her priest knew she was having a sexual relationship outside marriage.

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

As a result she had stopped sleeping with McKnight and, as their relationship deteriorated, she became friends with a young Scottish man who she had met through a psychic advice line.

McKnight, who denies a charge of attempted murder on July 28 this year, claims an unknown man came into the garden of their detached bungalow in Epping Road, Roydon and attacked both of them.

But prosecutor Andrew Jackson branded McKnight's account "nonsense".

In his opening speech, Mr Jackson said the businessman invited his former partner into the garden where he had placed a cardboard box in the centre of a 20ft square blue tarpaulin. He told her it was a parcel which had arrived for her.

"She bent down to look at it and, from behind and now armed with a metal bar he had wrapped in some sort of plastic, he launched what the prosecution say was a savage and brutal assault on her," said Mr Jackson.

He said that McKnight held the pole "as if it were a baseball bat" and struck her across the back of her head.

"She managed to run and she got near the gates, the defendant chasing her and hitting her all the while."

Ms McKnight collapsed and came to with him straddling her and screamed. He put his hand over her mouth.

"She was absolutely petrified as she thought he was going to kill her," said Mr Jackson. "She pleaded with him. She told him she loved him."

Mr Jackson claimed Ms McKnight then bit the defendant's hand and managed to escape, running out on to Epping Road before being taken to hospital.

The couple's three-year-old son, who had accompanied his mother and had gone straight into the house to play, was safe inside.

Mr Jackson claimed McKnight had been violent towards his partner on several occasions, including threatening her with a knife and hitting her with a crucifix.

Giving evidence from behind a screen, Ms McKnight - who uses McKnight's name although they were not married - told the jury they met in 1999 when she went to his estate agency to rent a house.

He offered her a job in the office and they began a relationship about a year later.

The case continues.

SECRET MESSAGE Jrog qa hanagf qhvbz shaz? O hanaggyu

IT might sound like science-fiction but a new restaurant has opened in China where customers are served by robots!

The Dalu Rebot Restaurant has six robot waiters and can cater for up to 100 diners at a time.

The 21 tables are laid out in circles and the robots follow a fixed route to serve diners in rotation.

After serving each table they return to the kitchen to refill their trays for the next round.

But while all the food – mainly the Chinese version of fondue – is served by robots, it is still prepared by real chefs.

Other people are also employed to welcome customers and explain how the innovative restaurant works.

The eatery is the brainchild of the Shandong Dalu Science and Technology Company – and the team behind its creation hope it will be the first of many across China.

Spokesman Zhang Yongpei

The diner where robots serve meals on wheels!

told reporters: "Next we will develop robots which can climb stairs and help with kitchen chores like washing the dishes."

"And our waiters will become more sophisticated so they can go direct to a customer's table and even refill diners' drinks."

Happy Birthday

Morning glory beckons for the latest Square starlets

JUST two years ago, Steve Sparrow was stuck in a rut.

Dreams of carving out a successful career as a musician had stuttered and stalled and he found himself rapidly becoming a suburban cliché, sleepwalking through a dreary dead-end job and living for the weekend. But rather than trudging down the well-trodden path of 9-5 anonymity, the former Burnt Mill School student refused to give up on music, dragging himself out of self-induced torpor determined to form a band "that really mattered to people".

Rallying similarly disillusioned Harlow mates Chad Thomas (guitar), Phil Titus (bass), Ben Giddings (synths) and Andy Hayes (drums), Morning Parade were born. The result is a thrilling synthesis of visceral, anthemic rock and irresistible dance grooves.

Two whirlwind years of mind-blowing gigs and major label-flirting later, a lucrative record deal with Parlophone is in the bag and superstardom surely beckons.

Job done? Steve's having none of it. "It's an amazing feeling to have secured a record deal, especially with a label as highly-regarded as Parlophone, but this is where the real work starts," he said.

"The pressure is now on us to

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertssexnews.co.uk deliver but we know we're capable. We've got the songs and the melodies, and the level of support people have shown us there these past two years has been phenomenal."

For Steve, it's all about lyrics and melody. "To have a great song you need the melody and the lyrics to both be strong. Then you can start adding things once you've got that core."

It's a formula that works, with debut single Under The Stars rooted in an irresistible melody and layered with chiming guitars and a subtle synth loop – at once anthemic and danceable.

It's testament to the band's growing popularity that they've sold out two homecoming gigs this week at The Square, a venue that Steve says has played an important part in their success.

"We wouldn't be where we are today without The Square," he said. "We've all learned so much from spending summers in our youth attending the Rock School and we've all played in Rock Contests there in various bands."

"It's such a fantastic venue with an amazing history. Without places like The Square, bands simply wouldn't have the opportunity to hone their craft."

So would Morning Parade be happy with following in the footsteps of Coldplay, The Libertines, Snow Patrol and other Square alumni? "Although we obviously want to headline festivals and play stadiums, my dream is for Morning Parade to win an Ivor Novello award for songwriting," Steve said. "To win that kind of respect and appreciation from fellow bands and musicians would be incredible."

● Morning Parade's debut single Under The Stars is out now on Parlophone Records.

Jumping and jiving in town's market square

HOP down to Harlow town centre next week for a hot-steppin' Christmas concert from one of the UK's most popular jive and swing bands.

The Jive Aces, renowned for their high energy jive music and spectacular stage show, will sprinkle some seasonal cheer in Market Square next Thursday (December 23) afternoon for the second year running.

Organised by the Market Traders' Association, the free gig will feature timeless tunes from the swing era, the glitz and glamour of the Rat Pack and a hearty dose of rockin' rhythm 'n' blues.

The group, who headlined the Royal Albert Hall earlier this year, have appeared in Hello and OK magazines and are now the house band on BBC Radio London each Wednesday night on the Jo Good Late Show.

They recently returned to the UK from Hollywood where they were recording their new album. Lead singer Ian Clarkson said: "It has now become a tradition to come to Harlow before Christmas.

"Mick Hemmings at the Refreshment Bar always makes sure we get well looked after and we are more than happy to bring a little joy to Harlow people for the holiday season."

Last year the market traders offered a brand new TV to one lucky shopper and this year they are repeating the prize draw offer with a cash prize of £250. Everyone who buys at least £3 worth of goods or food from any of the traders in Christmas week will be in the draw and The Jive Aces will pick the winner during their performance.

Sci-fi sequel takes us back to the future

TRON: LEGACY (3D)
certificate PG 2h05m

RETURN to the digital realm of Steven Lisberger's cult 1982 adventure in Joseph Kosinski's high-tech reboot which is being screened in 3D.

Set in the present day, Tron: Legacy journeys back into the mainframe where battles are resolved using razor-sharp discs strapped to the characters' backs.

Back in the 1980s, Kevin Flynn (Jeff Bridges, pictured left) revolutionised the world with his technology corporation ENCOM. Then he disappeared without trace, leaving behind a young son, Sam, who always clung on to the faint glimmer of hope that his old man would return. Twenty-five years later, Sam Flynn (Garrett Hedlund) is just as tech-savvy as his father but has no interest in ENCOM other than hacking into the mainframe to release its software updates for free, just as Kevin would have wanted.

Following a visit from old friend Alan Bradley (Bruce Boxleitner), Sam visits his father's rundown arcade where a misfiring laser transports him into the mainframe. In this world of computer programs and viruses, Sam is reunited with his father and beautiful protector, Quorra (Olivia Wilde).

Complicating matters, Kevin's digital doppelganger, Clu, rules the mainframe with his army and is desperate to find a way out of the cyber universe.

Video-game addicts will be in their element, immersed in the frenetic action as the camera zooms around computer-generated arenas and landscapes. However, while screenwriters Edward Kitsis and Adam Horowitz have certainly lavished attention on the graphics, they haven't invested much programming time in either the plot or the protagonists.

Tron: Legacy is frontloaded with action sequences so the second hour lacks momentum and relies on an eye-catching supporting turn from Michael Sheen to pique our interest.

The plodding script is enlivened by the occasional wry one-liner but the heady whiff of nostalgia wears off quickly and it's a struggle to make it to the end of Kosinski's film without stifling a yawn.

If the scripts for Chicago, Coyote Ugly, Dreamgirls, Glitter and Showgirls were put through a shredder and the resulting tangle of musical clichés taped back together, you'd probably end up with Burlesque.

Clumsy, garish and permanently in danger of falling flat on its powdered face, Steve Antin's rags-to-riches fairytale cannot muster a single sequin of originality.

Ali (Christina Aguilera) works as a waitress in Iowa but secretly dreams of stardom beneath the glittering light of Los Angeles.

Strutting out of her trailer park wearing inappropriate white heels, Ali heads for the city where she stumbles upon the Burlesque cabaret bar run by ex-dancer Tess (Cher) and best friend Sean (Stanley Tucci), who looks after the costumes.

Before you can shake a feather boa, Ali is auditioning for a role as one of the dancing girls where she inevitably riles current leading lady Nikki (Kristen Bell). And in double quick time, she catches the eye of hunky barman Jack (Cam Gigandet) and local property developer Marcus (Eric Dane).

But trouble looms on the horizon: Tess is months in arrears and the club will be sold off unless she can raise a small fortune in the next four weeks.

The glitzy song and dance numbers draw inspiration, choreography and production design from the aforementioned gems of the genre, with a nod to Cabaret for good measure.

THE GIRL WHO KICKED THE HORNET'S NEST 15, 2h289m (in Swedish with English subtitles)

Lisbeth Salander (Noomi Rapace) stands accused of multiple murders in the final chapter of the trilogy based on the award-winning books by Stieg Larsson.

The police, led by Inspector Jan Bublanski (Johan Kylen), are convinced that she is guilty but tenacious journalist Mikael Blomkvist (Michael Nyqvist) scents a cover-up so he sets out to prove her innocence and expose the shocking truth on the pages of his magazine, Millennium.

He races against time with editor Erika Berger (Lena Endre) to unearth incontrovertible proof of Lisbeth's innocence. The stakes couldn't be higher: if Lisbeth is found guilty she will be sent back to a psychiatric ward under the care of abusive physician Dr Teleborian (Anders Ahlborn Rosendahl).

The Chronicles of Narnia: Voyage Of The Dawn Treader (3D & 2D) Lucy and Edmund Pevensie return to Narnia with their cousin Eustace where they meet up with Prince Caspian for a trip across the sea aboard the royal ship The Dawn Treader. Along the way they encounter dragons, dwarves, merfolk and a band of lost warriors before reaching the edge of the world.

The Tourist Frank (Johnny Depp) is an American tourist visiting Italy to mend a broken heart. While there he meets Elise (Angelina Jolie), an extraordinary woman who is being followed by police waiting for her to contact her lover who embezzled over $2bn.

Megamind (3D & 2D) The supervillain Megamind finally conquers his nemesis, the hero Metro Man but finds his life pointless without a hero to fight.

Harry Potter and The Deathly Hallows As Harry races against time and evil to destroy the Horcruxes, he uncovers the existence of three most powerful objects in the wizarding world – the Deathly Hallows.

to guide you through the week ahead

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20

An important discussion can take place, especially in relation to a property purchase or sale or an inheritance. The portents are bright - providing there is no small detail bumbling around out of sight, which suddenly comes into view. At work, be conscious of who holds the power in a relationship. This may not be nice, but a fact you need to grapple with. Call for your love scope...

Libra Sept 24-Oct 23

You could find yourself having second thoughts about where to spend Christmas, especially if someone is being totally overpowering in wanting everything their own way. They may however be surprised about how feisty you are in response. If this dynamic has been unchecked for a very long time, your view may be that enough is enough. Good for you, if so! Call for more advice...

Taurus Apr 21-May 21

Trains and Boat and Planes, may be the title of a great song by Burt Bacharach but is entirely apt for you, because plenty of comings and goings can be taking place in your situation just now Taurus. If you feel that everyone else has a more exciting existence than you do, rather than feel envious, be determined to change your life to make buzzy things happen. Call for more advice...

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22

Agreeing to disagree is one of the best things that you can aim for this week because it seems that you and someone you encounter may see things very differently. And whatever your opinion and whatever it relates to, try to keep this separate from your personal reactions. If you don't, a fierce stand-off can unfold and there may well be no winners. Call me now for your in-depth forecast...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21

You may be more emotional than usual but there is more to be gained by reaching out and meeting people half way. Why is this? Well, you're showing a depth of intensity and feeling that can surprise some, even you, and it is because of the role of the potent planet, Pluto. Whereas in the past, events skimmed over you, now they can really touch a raw nerve. Call for more news...

Capricorn Nov 23-Dec 21

Your willpower can be incredibly strong. If you are in an affectionate relationship, this too may see the temperature rise between you and yours but it may also see sparks fly over the Christmas budget. Because of Mercury's retrograde, be sure that if you do get into any kind of heated debate that you ensure that you have all the facts, absolutely clear before you. Call for your love scope...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23

If you meet someone new, they may well sweep you off your feet, but equally turn out to talk the talk, but not walk it. Misunderstandings also continue to be a possibility. Yet if things don't go exactly to plan, if someone really means something to you, it may be hard to just shrug it off. This is not the best of times to pump up your expectations. Cancer. Call for your love scope in full...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23

You might think to buy yourself a Christmas Survival Manual, as someone with a perverse delight in being awkward, proves to be a tough nut to crack. But then the winner in you might dislike not seeing this situation through, so you may decide to rise above them, and go out of your way to be even more of a super provider. Perfection can fray your nerves though. Call for more...

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19

If you're looking for a job, don't write off past skills and experiences. Although you may have moved on to do different things more recently, your old talents may still come in very usefully. This may not be like for like either, but a strand can still be used in the here and now, if an adaptation. Funnily enough, you can really enjoy it, more than you might expect. Call for more...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23

Y'Things remain fluid, but this can also turn out to be a seminal moment in one involvement, with it getting much deeper, or shrivelling on the vine. Keep the lines of communication open, and expect changes in schedules and you'll be less surprised should they come. If they don't, see this as a pleasant surprise. A help you to be philosophical. Capricorn can prove Anyway, a late replacement significant this week. Call me for more astral advice...

Pisces Feb 20-Mar 20

If you're heading away on a group holiday in the next few weeks, someone may pull out, which could leave you short of numbers

Stunning four-bed church conversion

Category Four-bedroom church conversion

Price £695,000
Agent Howick & Brooker, Gothic House, High Street, Old Harlow. Telephone (01279) 418888

IF you've been looking for a home that is a little out of the ordinary, then our cover property this week may be the answer to your prayers!

All Saints Church, just off Harlow Common in the parish of North Weald, dates back to the mid 19th century and was consecrated in 1962. From then it was used as a studio for various artists and musicians.

In 2001 it was bought by a lady looking for a challenge and with a great deal of imagination, style and flair. With the support of an experienced builder, she set about creating a fabulous country home.

Today the accommodation, arranged over two floors, retains the integrity of the original building and has kept many original features. There are three reception rooms, a modern kitchen, garden room, four bedrooms and two bathrooms.

Fabulous arch windows and stone surrounds are just some of the building's features. You can still see to the top of the original church tower which is ringed by a five-sided landing and in turn looks down over the dining room. The large windows at either end of the property allow plenty of light to spill through to its clean lines, shown off with a bright white and cream décor.

The property is set in a lovely rural location alongside farmland just two miles from junction 7 of the M11 and a couple of miles from shops, schools and rail services.

The guide price is £695,000. Call Howick & Brooker on (01279) 418888 for further details.

Mazda takes another step forward

By Richard M Hammond

Like the rest of Mazda's range of vehicles, the Mazda3 model is no also-ran. Mazda may not have the UK market share of traditional volume brands such as Ford or Vauxhall, but that doesn't mean it doesn't have the respect of car buyers.

Pound for pound, cars like the Mazda3 hatchback can be comfortably considered alongside well-established competitors.

A number of factors have played their part in the Japanese brand's rise from a relatively small importer of budget vehicles to a competitive sub-premium manufacturer in the UK. Chief among them is the company's focus on delivering what car buyers want.

This is reflected not only in the improved interior and exterior quality of its vehicles or the distinctive styling ethos that's given individual models greater identity as part of an instantly recognisable brand but also in the concise nature of the vehicle line-up itself. It is one that concentrates on the key sectors: small hatchback, family hatchback, D-segment rep-mobile, people carrier, two-seater sports car and SUV crossover.

With this ethos in mind, Mazda has made some revisions to the

FACTfile

Engine:	1.6-litre diesel unit developing 113bhp
Transmission:	6-speed manual transmission driving front wheels

Economy:	64.2mpg
CO ₂ Rating:	117g/km

popular Mazda3. Firstly, there's no more saloon for the UK market. The booted version of the Mazda3 was a handsome but rare sight, accounting for a mere six per cent of UK sales.

Secondly, the 1.6-litre diesel engine has been replaced with a new version offering greater economy and lower emissions. While there's nothing unusual about that, looking under the skin offers further insight into Mazda's focussed approach.

In an era of technological advances, Mazda's decision to simplify the inner workings of the Mazda3's smaller capacity diesel engine is a brave one. The outgoing 1.6-litre diesel unit was a twin-cam, 16-valve design, the kind that until not so long ago would have warranted extra badges to inform passers-by of its sophistication.

The new unit still offers turbocharged performance but uses a single camshaft and eight-valves. Less glamorous it may be, but the reduced weight and frictional losses from the additional parts help the revised model to produce greater efficiency and lower emissions.

Regardless of the core layout, the new unit is hardly a step backwards. As with so many modern diesel engines, God is in the detail. Super-sharp piezo injectors have been put to use within the fuelling system, allowing greater control of the fuel delivery. A new variable-geometry turbocharger is used, too, offering a better spread of power delivery across the rev range.

Equally important for fuel consumption when the vehicle is used for shorter journeys, an exhaust gas recirculation cooler bypass system allows the engine to warm up faster when starting from cold.

The net result is a fuel consumption improvement of 2.2 per cent and CO₂ emissions down 1.7 per cent, while power is up by six bhp.

Crucially, the torque figure has not only been raised by 22lb/ft but, thanks to the clever turbo, now offers peak performance between 1750 and 2700rpm. This makes the engine much more flexible and results in less gear changing using the new, lighter, six-speed manual transmission.

Thankfully, the Mazda3's driving and ride quality experience has survived the change of powerplant. Sharing a platform with the Ford Focus, a car widely considered the best in class in terms of handling, has always been a bonus for the Mazda3.

Although no sports car, an advanced suspension system offers a consistent feel at the wheel with body roll suitably tempered for a more aggressive approach. At the same time, the ride quality is good; not pillow soft but not unnecessarily firm either.

Also unchanged is the accommodating and neatly designed interior. There's an upmarket, stylised feel in the front that counters the occasional appearance of some harder plastics. The contemporary design has a distinctive feel but is highly ergonomic and the body feels wide enough to prevent claustrophobia.

Decent rear legroom is aided by the five-door layout, making the Mazda3 a practical compact family hatchback. A wide boot door is equally convenient.

It's a case of taking one step backwards to take two steps forward with the revised Mazda3 1.6 Diesel. Focussing on what buyers want; consistent quality, style and performance alongside improved economy, the company has delivered once again.

Find peace of mind, not piece of scrap

Scrap

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

End of the road? Get over it and move on with your local ATF:
B & T Motor Salvage

We offer free collection, on the same day if necessary, using our own recovery vehicles and issue a Certificate of Destruction from the Department of Vehicle Licensing Authority via our direct link to their website. Payment per vehicle negotiable.

Basketball

Ware Jokers 78, Harlow Hawks 70
Herts County League division one

THE game at Ware Jokers ended in defeat but Harlow Hawks player-coach Shab Niaz was upbeat after his team's display on Sunday.

"The effort given was brilliant and for the first time we played the level of basketball that we have come to expect over the last few years," he said. "Now we have to maintain it."

At one stage in the first quarter the Jokers were eight points ahead. Hawks stepped up their defence and finished the quarter with Luke Atkinson hitting a three-pointer on the buzzer to make it 17-17.

There was little in it in the second quarter before Jokers went on a 10-2 run. Hawks trailed 41-30 at the halfway stage.

During the third quarter the Hawks had an 8-0 run with scores from the Atkinson brothers (Luke and Simon) and Ayo Oyerinde.

Following a Jokers score, the teams once again traded baskets and Hawks were 56-47 behind going into the final quarter.

Jokers then went 17 points ahead before Hawks replied with a 13-2 run. The visitors then lost momentum after the loss of Simon Atkinson for his fifth foul and he sat out the last two minutes.

HARLOW HAWKS: L Atkinson (23 pts), S Atkinson (14), S Niaz (12), Allan (9 pts), Jones (6), Oyerinde (4), Spashett (2).

● Hawks host Bedford Bulls in the National Cup at Harlow Leisurezone on Saturday. Tip-off is at 7.25pm.

Cross country

MARK Hall student Canaan Solomon ran an excellent race to come eighth in the South of England Counties Championship at Shuttleworth in Bedfordshire.

The U-13 boy runner, who was representing Essex for the first time on Saturday, clocked 10 mins 4 secs over 3k. Canaan came away with a gold medal as Essex won the team award.

Athletics coach John Stow said: "Canaan was understandably nervous before his first big race and really rose to the occasion after a slow start."

Another Mark Hall student – Alicia McArdell – was 28th in the girls U-13 3k race in a time of 11:28.

Amelia Barrett (14), from Burnt Mill School, achieved a great 33rd spot in the U-15 girls 4k race in 15:56.

Other results

South of England Championships: Perry Rowan (Burnt Mill) 43rd in U-15 boys race 4k 14:04.

Lee Valley 10 out of 10: Rosie Poole (Burnt Mill) U-13 600m (2m, personal best); long jump (3.42m, personal best).

Netball

Harlow Netball League results.

Division Two: S M Coaches 18 (player of the match, N. Duffell), Crosskeys Two 20 (G. Goodall); Team Colours 18 (L. Edwards), Crosskeys Four 32 (G. Lowe); Tegate Jays 31 (E. Clarke), Crosskeys Three 16 (A. Wacey); Epping Red 25 (C. Azzopard), St Mary's 14 (J. Weller).
Division Four: Issi Cheetahs 17 (C. McDonald), Phoenix 20 (A. Costin); Bishop's Stortford II 27 (B. Donald), Kendlebell 18 (G. Maxwell); Thatchers 35 (N. Oliver), Epping Blue 14 (S. J. Moore).

Hockey

HARLOW Hockey Club ladies team are set to play at Wapping in the premier division of the Essex Women's Hockey League at home this Saturday.

Their scheduled league game at Thurrock five days ago was postponed because of snow.

Hawks get back to winning ways with Akers' brace

Shortly after, Budd dived well to deny Judge while at the other end James Hasell had to be alert to prevent Junior Adeoye from scoring after the latter slipped around Reece Yorke.

Peagram was replaced at half-time by Andre Modeste-Humphrey. "I could see James was becoming frustrated and it gave us a fresh pair of legs," Warren explained afterwards.

On 50 minutes Judge was set up well by Danny Brown but his shot was tipped away by Budd.

Harlow's second goal on 70 minutes was well made. Cowley's pass found Joe Stevens whose hanging left wing cross was headed home powerfully by Akers.

Shortly before the end, Modeste-Humphrey crossed and an unmarked Yorke contrived to put the ball over the bar from a yard!

Warren added: "We want to build on this on Saturday (against Redbridge at home) and get nearer to the play-off positions."

HARLOW TOWN: Hasell 6, Wheeler 6, Barnes 7, Yorke 6, Stewart 7, Brown 7, Stevens 6 (Ferguson, 84), Kilapi 6, Judge 6 (Cowley, 62), Peagram 5 (Modeste-Humphrey, 45), Akers 8. Subs not used: Cockman, Madden. Attendance 76.

● Midfielder Tom Bruno (contracted to Braintree Town) is expected to go back to the Blue Square Bet South club after his loan has expired.

A club can only field two loan contracted players in a squad of 16 and Harlow already have two in Yorke (on loan from Barnet) and Brown.

Right back Donny Barnard may return after his knee ligament injury while left back Sacha Opinel is still suspended.

Rams outclassed by free-scoring leaders

Harlow 0, Rochford 62
RFU London division two north east

THERE was no lack of effort from basement side Harlow but they simply had no answer to the class of league leaders Rochford.

Saturday's game was switched to Harlow because Rochford's pitch was waterlogged and although the Rams' backs put in many tackles they could not stem the flow of tries.

"The scoreline did not reflect the game," said Harlow's forwards coach Peter Calridge. "Two of their tries came when we had the advantage (from a Rochford offence) but when there was no advantage the referee let play go on."

"However, we cannot blame the referee for the end result."

The Rams started brightly and had at least two tries disallowed by forward passes while Rochford were more clinical.

They scored two breakaway tries on five and 10 minutes through Sean Conneely and Sam Barnes.

Tom Ashton converted one of them and kicked a 15th minute penalty to give Rochford a 15-0 lead.

Dan Allen then broke through to score a 20th minute unconverted try before Matt Stewart touched down for the visitors and Ashton kicked the conversion.

Rochford's elusive running was then demonstrated as Conneely dashed over for his second try on 35 minutes. Ashton slotted the conversion and Harlow trailed 34-0 at half-time.

Wing Chris Webb sustained a leg injury and was replaced by Will Grimley at half time.

A Rochford player was sin-binned for foul play in the second half but this did not prevent Tom Corbet scoring the first of his three tries on 50 minutes.

Ashton converted, as he did twice more when Corbet broke from a maul to score on 65 minutes and when he rounded off a 70th minute backs move to put Rochford 55-0 ahead.

At the other end, Harlow spurned three kickable penalty opportunities and went for the line-out and driving maul but were unable to penetrate.

The scoring was rounded off on 75 minutes when the Rochford number eight, George Chipperfield, out-paced the home defence to score. Ashton kicked the conversion.

Claridge added: "We missed too many first up tackles and made too many handling errors and they lived off our mistakes. We competed well up front and Scott Romaine and Kerry Palmer had good games."

HARLOW: Mackie, Bates, Powell, L Bowering, Webb (Grimley, 40), Dobson, Woodington, Prindiville, (Lewis, 50), Romaine (capt), Lane, Palmer, Hawkins, Eynon, M Bowering (Mallia, 60), Roberts.

Get a taste for athletics

HARLOW youngsters aged 11-19 who are not fully involved in sport have a chance to have a go at athletics next year.

The Sport Unlimited programme at Mark Hall will start in February. There will be eight weekly sessions, all of them held on Wednesday evenings.

It is being organised between Harlow Athletic Club and Sport Essex with financial support from Sport England.

Level two coach John Stow, who is running the course on behalf of Harlow AC, said: "All aspects of athletics will be covered and I have already four schools interested in St Nicholas, St Marks, Burnt Mill and Mark Hall."

"Other qualified coaches will be engaged from time to time and hopefully a senior hurdles coach will be involved."

He added: "The pupils will have the opportunity to learn everything connected to athletics including important issues surrounding a thorough warm-up, warm-down and conditioning work."

It is hoped that youngsters will be sufficiently interested to take up the sport with Harlow AC.

It is a part of a national scheme which aims to attract 900,000 youngsters into sport in England.

The sessions will run from 6-7pm, starting on February 2.

Hawks suffer Trophy woe

LIFT OFF: Harlow's Reece Yorke (centre) attempts to out jump the Woking defence

Akers' brace brings losing streak to end

Harlow Town 2, Ilford 0
Ryman League division one north

THE rot was stopped as the Hawks ended their five-match losing run in the league with a comfortable home win over Ilford.

Harlow's performance on Tuesday was purposeful and none more so than midfielder Clark Akers. He scored both goals and was a creative presence throughout the game.

Hawks boss Kevin Warren said: "We have not had a great run and we needed the three points badly. We did not keep the ball well at times but we could have won by four or five goals.

"Clark is a very good player and has a lot of quality on the ball. He took his chances well."

Warren brought in newly signed striker Matthew Judge (from Aveley) to replace Che Stadhart, who was sidelined by a hamstring injury.

Harlow took the lead on 14 minutes when a sweeping move ended with James Peagram setting up Akers whose shot went in off visitors' keeper Rob Budd and into the net.

For Peagram it was a frustrating half as he was unable to make the most of openings. This was typified on 28 minutes when Akers set him up but the former's control let him down and Budd

Harlow Town 0, Woking 2 FA Trophy, first round

By DAVID RIMMER

THERE was no romantic upset as underdogs Harlow Town were beaten at home by Woking in the first round of the FA Trophy.

The Hawks had already beaten three higher league placed teams in the competition but were always unlikely to claim a fourth scalp after two early goals from the Blue Square Bet South side's star striker Elvis Hammond.

He has previously been at Leicester City and Fulham and was a thorn in Harlow's side on Saturday.

Hawks boss Kevin Warren brought in the experienced James Hasell to replace Rhys Madden in goal, while player coach Christian Wheeler deputised for Donny Barnard at right back.

Early action saw Moses Ademola fire wide before the visitors took the lead on 14 minutes. A slick move on the right ended with Joe Keehan setting up Hammond who tucked the ball wide of Hasell and into the far corner.

Woking doubled their advantage three minutes later from the penalty spot. Keehan was adjudged to have been fouled by Laurie Stewart and Hammond stepped up to convert the spotkick.

At the other end, a goalbound shot by Harlow's Che Stadhart was blocked by Adam Doyle on 26 minutes. Four minutes later Stadhart was forced off by a hamstring injury and was replaced by Dave Cowley.

The key moment for Harlow came on 37 minutes when Cowley played a delightful ball through to James Peagram who only had Woking keeper Andrew Little to beat. He rounded Little but was forced wide and his shot was cleared off the line by Joe McNerney.

Early second half pressure saw a back header from Woking's Mark Ricketts tipped over his own bar by keeper Andrew Little.

Other openings were created but neither keeper was called on to make a serious save.

Just before the end, Christian Wheeler's header from a deep Dannie Brown cross clipped the bar.

Harlow's Clark Akers (foul), Wheeler (dissent) and Hasell (dissent) were booked.

Afterwards, Warren said: "It could have been a different story if Little's effort had gone in. We did well after the first 20 minutes.

"They had quality all over the pitch and their seven (Moses Ademola) and nine (Elvis Hammond) were very good. We defended a lot better in the second half and it was a massive achievement to have got so far."

Of the Woking penalty he said: "Laurie stuck out a leg and got a toe on the ball and their player fell over. It went their way but if that happened to us I would have expected penalty."

HARLOW TOWN: Hasell 6, Wheeler 6, Barnes 6 (Bradbury, 75 mins), Yorke 5, Stewart 5, Brown 6, Ferguson 5 (Modeste-Humphrey, 75 mins), Kilapi 5, Stadhart 6 (Cowley, 30 mins), Peagram 6, Akers 6. Subs not used: Stevens, Madden. Attendance 314.
